A couple became separated from their dog in the "1000 Acres"/ Sandy River Delta off-leash area. The distraught couple was unable to locate their dog for several days, even after posting information flyers throughout the community. The dog was a sled dog that had raced in the Alaskan Iditarod.

A MCSO Citizen Patrol volunteer encountered the couple and realized he had just seen the dog at Dabney Park, laying in the grass. The owners were reunited with their dog and they very kindly donated $300 to the Citizen Patrol volunteer program. Donated money such as this is saved into an account and then used for items such as radios, equipment and uniform items.
